Information, organisation and communication at school

There is enough time for conversations between teachers and parents at the open school day.

The school management is sufficiently available and willing to talk to pupils and parents.

If important decisions are made at this school, they are made in a way that is justified and thus understandable.

Cooperation with the caretaker runs smoothly at this school.

Cooperation with the secretary runs smoothly at this school.

Cooperation with the security staff runs smoothly at this school.

Development of an inclusive school

The school takes care of...

... the cultural differences of the pupils.

... the linguistic differences of the pupils.

... the social differences of the pupils.

... the different learning requirements of the pupils.
